finally you can s-s-s-sample with the OP-Z!

since the release of the OP-Z, a lot of people have asked for a sampling function and teenage engineering are now happy to announce that they have made their wishes come true.

the new os update for the OP-Z will be available for download today. it includes a brand new sampling mode functionality and lets you sample direct to your OP-Z from a microphone, headset or usb.

with the 2 channel audio interface you can now send digital audio to your OP-Z for sampling and receive digital audio from your OP-Z for easy recording.

the update also features a full OP-1 sample format that supports pitch, gain, playmode and play direction. other updates in the new os are improved stability and bug fixes.
